

Getting started

Published 2014-10-27 |

Getting started

Getting started with developing applications for Samsung Smart TV provides all the information you need to set up the development environment and to get familiar with the application development process and the developer tools:

Samsung Smart TV

Introduces essential Smart TV concepts and describes the application architecture, including:

Smart TV Applications

Application Manager

Project Types

Introduces the project types provided by the JavaScript and Flash API sets.

Application Development Process

Explains the application development process for managing your application's life-cycle from product conception, through to development and release.