Example

If you application contains a form with the input field inside, the default action on pressing the ENTER key may be application reload.

To avoid this, the onSubmit form event should always return false as in the example below.

```
<form id="plain" class="window" onSubmit="return false;">
  Text box with no constraints
  <textarea id="plainText" type="text" size="20" height="30" ></textarea>
</form>
